Discussion on storm event	The last forecast of the season, and it's been an interesting 2023-24, but a good one! The system yesterday brought quite the light show, at least it was good when I was coming home from a 10U baseball game. We'll see a couple of systems move across the area bringing a cooler air mass with a chance of rain and snow showers. I believe the "wet" spring will continue through at least the first half of May. If you need any forecasts through the summer, let me know, otherwise, we'll get it started back up October 1st!
